1. Welcome Back

I want to start by welcoming everyone back to the 2020-2021 academic year. This is certainly an unusual way to start the year (and that is putting it mildly). Fr. Pilarz and I are so appreciative of all of your efforts to continue an excellent University of Scranton education while at the same time being flexible and creative as we seek to stay safe and healthy. As you know, considerable time, energy and thought have gone into the decision to adjust the academic calendar and to return to campus. Rather than reviewing all of the details that have been communicated over the summer and in this first week of classes, I point you to the resources that are available on our Royals Safe Together website, which also includes most of the communication that has been sent to the university community: _____

We will continue to update you regularly as we progress through the semester.

I do want to remind everyone that both students and employees are required to use the University's wellness self-screening application daily if they are coming to campus. The app can be accessed through the My.Scranton portal, the Scranton Mobile app or directly at <https://www.scranton.edu/WellnessScreening>. The app includes a series of simple questions regarding symptoms as recommended by the PA Department of Health. When symptoms are reported through the screening, the application will automatically notify the appropriate department for students or employees and provide additional instruction by email.

2. Welcome CAS Dean

Please join me welcoming Michelle Gonzalez Maldonado, Ph.D., who started as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences on July 1. Since 2014 she has served as Assistant Provost of Undergraduate Education at the University of Miami, where she also served since 2016 as the Executive Director of the Office of Academic Enhancement, and as a professor of religious studies.

Dean. Maldonado's leadership experience in working with academic deans, faculty, students and professional advisors, complemented by her dedication and care of historically underrepresented and first-generation college students, will make her a great asset at Scranton. Additionally, her education and career display a deep appreciation for the Catholic and Jesuit mission that is central to our work together.

3. Strategic Plan Update

Amidst all of the short-term preparations for a fall semester opening amidst the COVID-19 spread, we continue the important long-term planning that is necessary through our strategic plan. The University Planning Committee (UPC) and President's Cabinet particularly worked throughout the summer to continue to seek and incorporate feedback from constituencies to refine the strategic planning draft, which continues to remain available in the my.scranton portal, News tab, University planning channel. ## 7. Curriculog

In the spring semester I committed to providing an update to Faculty Senate on the motion put forward by the Shared Governance Committee to consider purchasing a curriculum management system such as CURRICULOG in order to facilitate the curriculum review process and catalog changes. Last week I spoke with the Faculty Senate Executive Committee about this and we will continue to assess this possibility in light of the current financial constraints of the university.

include U.S. News and World Report, Forbes, The Wall Street Journal and others. College Consensus also calculated an “overall score” for colleges based on student reviews posted on multiple sites, including Niche.com. The schools were ranked based on a “consensus ranking” that combined both these scores.

9. Intersession Grant Proposals

A call for proposals for Intersession 2021 Grants went out. The deadline for full-time faculty interested in submitting a proposal for an Intersession Grant is September 25th.

10. Curriculum Deadlines:

In order to provide reviewing bodies sufficient time to review and approve curriculum proposals for inclusion in the 2021-2022 undergraduate and graduate catalogs registration materials, please adhere to the following deadlines. Please plan accordingly to ensure that your dean’s office has time to review the proposal in advance of the Curriculum Committee deadlines. Submissions received after deadlines will be considered for the subsequent term or academic year.
